A STABBING victim's plea for leniency has helped save his teenage girlfriend from jail.

Christine Bojmelgrim appeared at Ipswich Crown Court on Tuesday to be sentenced after pleading guilty to a charge of unlawful wounding.

The 18-year-old Canadian, who stabbed boyfriend James Roberts during an argument at his parent's home in Roman Way, Haverhill, was handed a suspended iail sentence.

The court heard how Bojmelgrim had been staying at the home after the couple had met through the internet.

Michael Crimp, prosecuting, said that during the course of March 11, Bojmelgrim and Mr Roberts began arguing. Later in the day when the argument appeared to have subsided she suddenly reached on top of a wardrobe and grabbed an ornamental knife.

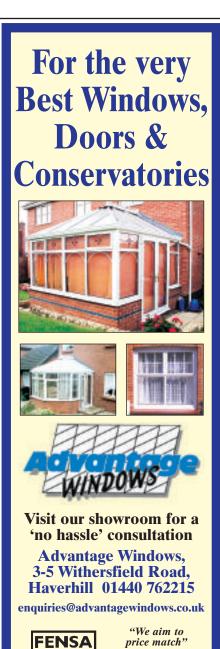

Mr Roberts tried to disarm Bojmelgrim but stopped his efforts because of fears that she might become injured by the foot-long weapon. In an attempt to persuade her to put down the knife, Mr Roberts picked up her saxophone and threatened to throw it out of the window but then accidentally dropped the

Mr Crimp told the court: "That appears to be the reason why the defendant then lunged at him with a stabbing motion."

Mr Roberts was stabbed in the shoulder and when paramedics arrived the knife was still embedded in him. He was taken to hospital and underwent emergency treatment for a collapsed lung.

When interviewed, Mr Roberts told police that because he loved Bojmelgrim he did not wish to press charges.

GOLFERS got in the swing this week to boost our Weekly News Hospice at Home Appeal - and fans of swing music will get the chance to do the same next month.

A charity golf tournament organised by Roger Thake, landlord of the Swan pub in Clare, at Haverhill Golf Club on Tuesday raised a magnificent £1,201 for the appeal, which aims to reach a target of £40,000 to pay for St Nicholas Hospice to provide services for patients in the Haverhill area in their own

Floral tributes to go from roads

BEREAVED relatives of road accident victims could see their flowers and memorials removed from crash sites under a new council Cambridgeshire County Council has laid down a new policy which says it will consider removing flowers left in memory of loved ones 30 days after tragic crashes. The A1307 will be one of the roads covered under the policy.

A council spokesman said: "This is not necessarily a new policy.

"It is something that has always been done, but it is the first time it has been set down in this way as part of the new Network Services Plan.

'We understand this is a very sensitive issue and flowers and memorials are an important part of the grieving process.

"In general we don't encourage road side memorials because of road safety - people may become distracted by them, and they are often on busy and fast roads.

"But this isn't about removing more permanent memorials people have placed without first talking to the families. We acknowledge a difference between flowers and memorials.

"Before anything was done we talk with police family liaison officers and work with families who have lost loved ones to make sure we do all we can to ensure these are kept erous driving has been warned he could face jail.

Gary Kirkby, 47, was found guilty of dangerous driving by a jury at Ipswich Crown Court, after denving the offence, claiming that he had been dazzled by the sun.

Kirkby, of Manor Farm Close, Haverhill, was told by Recorder Martyn Levett: "I can't rule out a prison sentence."

Sentencing was deferred until May 6 to allow the Probation Service to prepare a pre-sentence was released on bail and made the subject of an interim driving disqualification.

The court heard how at 7am on March 8 last year, student Kate Trowse had been on her way to college in Cambridge when she stepped onto a zebra crossing in Withersfield Road, Haverhill.

Neil MacAulay, prosecuting, said that Kirkby had been leaving Haverhill at the same time at the wheel of a Mitsubishi four-wheel drive pickup, having just left his girlfriend's house.

failed to stop, colliding with Miss Trowse and then the nearside wheels of the vehicle passed over her as she lay in the road. The incident resulted in Miss Trowse suffering a broken and crushed pelvis and as a result she spent time in hospital undergoing treatment.

Witnesses reported Kirkby, a partner in AK Scaffolding, had his arm out of the driver's door window attempting to clear ice and frost from the windscreen.

When spoken to at the scene by

But Mr MacAulay said two independent witnesses had said when the collision took place Kirkby had been attempting to clear ice from the windscreen.

In his defence, Kirkby said he knew Withersfield Road well and used it regularly. He maintained it had been bright sunshine and not ice that had restricted his visibility that morning. He denied having done anything dangerous while at the wheel.

Clare has been described as "a timeless beauty".

Led by a knowledgeable, professional guide, the walk spans over 1,000 years of local history and takes in many historic buildings, including the 13th Century priory, the 14th Century Ancient House Museum, a great Gothic wool church and many period residences.

Race success despite snail no-show

A SCHOOLGIRL raising cash for a trip to do community work in South Africa battled on after her Snail Race night was hit by problems.
Storm Medcalf, 15, organised the event at Horseheath

Storm Medcalf, 15, organised the event at Horseheath Village Hall, not with live snails, but with cartoon recordings of races.

The video did not arrive in time so Storm organised alternative challenges, such as guessing the weight of a snail cake, to bring in the funds.

So far she has raised £1,600 towards the £2,650 she needs to raise to go on the World Challenge trip to Lesotho, where she will do community work and go on an arduous trek in the Drakensberg mountains.

The Linton Village College pupil has done various jobs, including child minding, pet sitting, laminating and bag packing, as well as putting two years' Christmas and birthday money towards the trip. To support her efforts call (01223) 890388.

He also said he would not be willing to appear in court as a witness.

Jude Durr, appearing for Bojmelgrim, said her client had called both an ambulance and the police to the house immediately after the incident and had been fully co-operative.

The attack had been "totally out of character", said Mr Durr. Subsequently Mr Roberts' parents had said they would be willing for Bojmelgrim to return to stay with them for the rest of her time in the UK.

In a letter to the court, Mr Roberts said he regarded the incident as an "unfortunate accident" and urged Judge John Holt to exercise the utmost leniency because he was certain that Bojmelgrim had not intended to do him harm.

Sentencing Bojmelgrim, Judge Holt told her: "It was certainly something that you immediately regretted.

"The letter from your boyfriend shows that not only off his own bat, but after extensive talks with his parents who also know you well, it has been decided that you are welcome to come back home and stay with them for the remainder of your vacation in England."

Bojmelgrim was sentenced to six months imprisonment, suspended for 12 months and ordered to complete 40 hours of unpaid community work before she leaves the UK in July.

Judge Holt said that the 32 days that Bojmelgrim had spent on remand awaiting sentencing had averted the need for her to go immediately into custody.

Two army dates for all to enjoy

TWO events have being organised by the Salvation Army in Haverhill and everyone is welcome to attend.

Mum's petition plea to stop deaths on A1307

A MOTHER whose son travels the route where two teenagers have died in the last year has started an online petition on the Prime Minister's website to call for urgent action on the killer route.

Castle Camps resident Julia Carne has posted her e-petition about the A1307 on the 10 Downing Street website, and South East Cambridgeshire MP James Paice has thrown his weight behind it.

Mrs Carne said her 14-year-old son Daniel was a pupil at Linton Village College and had known Alice Westland, 16, who died last month, and Imogen Barker, 15, who died close to the same spot at Cardinal's Green, Horseheath, last year.

Mrs Carne believes the only solution is to provide a large turning space where the bus can BY Jo Deeks turn around so the bus crosses the road rather than the children.

Mrs Carne said: "We live in Castle Camps and have a teenage son who was friends with the families of both the girls who died, and it is just that feeling of helplessness that nothing seems to get done, although all the right noises are made.

"It is very frightening for these children who go to Linton Village College and other schools, who are losing their friends. It is almost becoming the norm."

"If you get enough signatures at least it goes before the Prime Minister and raises the profile to get some action now.

"We are such a small community and there have been so many deaths on the road affecting families in Haverhill, this must bring it all back for them.

"If something is not done really quickly it sends out the message that our young people are not a priority, which I think would be very offensive and upsetting."

Mr Paice said: "Urgent action is required before this lethal road claims another life and leaves more families, friends and communities in mourning.

"The message must go out loud and clear that the devastating loss of life on this unacceptably dangerous stretch of road cannot be allowed to continue."

South Cambridgeshire District Councillor Vicky Ford said 23 people had died in a 10-mile stretch of the road in the past decade.

"This is absolutely unacceptable. The bus stop is one of the worst blackspots," she said.

The petition points out the A1307 in Cambridgeshire is one of the county's two most lethal roads, with the stretch between Babraham and Haverhill particularly dangerous with many deaths each year.

It calls for safe zones for people getting on and off along this rural bus route to be made a priority and funding put in place before any more of our young people from this community lose their lives.

The petition can be signed at petitions.pm.gov.uk/

Seat of unrest on the move

A SEAT which had become a hot-bed for anti-social behaviour has been moved in an attempt to drive the yobs away.

Residents living in the Chalkstone estate, Haverhill, complained to Havebury Housing Association, which owns many of the homes there, about disturbance being caused by people sitting on the bench drinking and making a lot of noise.

The bench has been moved and members of Haverhill Town Council's Community First committee have been asked to consider making a contribution towards the cost of the removal.

Ward members for the area where the bench was sited between Rushmere Place and Quendon Place – agreed it should be moved. It has since been taken to the newt pond, where a renovation scheme has taken place.

Gwen Dalton, a local resiof the Chalkstone Tenants and Residents' Association, said there had been considerable disturbance in the area from drinkers congregating on the bench and in a nearby children's playground, but this had been reduced since the bench was moved.

Mrs Dalton said: "There had always been problems with drinkers, but from the end of April the new drinking ban will come into force.

"We used to get youngsters drinking there at all hours, then we got people there drinking and urinating.

"They also use the play-ground and I have found condoms and needles in there.'

Cllr Les Ager, Haverhill Town Mayor, said: "It seems it was a meeting place for youngsters who might have got a bit noisy at times, so as long as it has gone somewhere where it is going to be used, that is fine.

Chance to respond to school closures

PUBLIC notices have been published setting out a proposed education system shake-up in Haverhill and the surrounding area – including axing four middle schools.

The notices mark the start of a six-week representation period.

Proposals which were approved by Suffolk County Council's cabinet in March will be the subject of the statutory representation period. Notices will be displayed outside each of the schools affected by the changes, as well as other community venues.

At the end of the representation period, all public responses will be analysed. This information, along with the proposals agreed in March, will be included in a paper, which the cabinet will consider at its meeting in June to make its final decision on the proposals.

Patricia O'Brien, portfolio holder for children, schools and young people's services, said: "Members of the public have six weeks to let the county council know their views on the proposals.

"The school organisation review is centred on improving education achievement and opportunities for all young people in the county.

"The proposed new structure for schools in the Haverhill area will help young people to achieve their full potential and go on to become successful members of the community."

There was a huge outcry when the shake-up was first announced and parents organised an unsuccessful petition to stop the closure of Parkway, Chalkstone and Castle Hill middle schools in Haverhill, and Clare Middle School.

The representation period in September will focus purely on the proposals approved in March, not on any previous proposals or recommendations.

Anyone who wants to give their views should write to: Phil Whiffing, Suffolk County Council, Endeavour House, 8 Russell Road, Ipswich, Suffolk IP1 2BX. The notices can also be found on the county council's website www.suffolk.gov.uk/sor

Addict in court over burglary

AN ADDICT who was given a second chance and spared from jail so he could get treatment for his heroin addiction is behind bars facing burglary charges.

Liam Darby, 23, is charged with two counts of burglary, theft from a motor vehicle, handling stolen goods and going equipped to steal.

He was remanded in custody by magistrates at Bury St Edmunds – the same court where just a few weeks ago he was handed an eight-month prison sentence, suspended for two years, so that he could seek help with his addiction.

The February court hearing was told that Darby, of Eastern Avenue, Haverhill, on bail for a string of theft offences including breaking into vehicles, was rushed to hospital after taking an overdose of heroin.

Kevin Lowson, prosecuting, said Darby was granted bail when he appeared for sentence on the theft charges on condition that he attended assessments for drug rehabilitation treatment.

But after taking a heroin overdose just four days into his bail period, he had to be rushed to hospital by ambulance BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklvnews.co.uk

Police found a spent syringe at his home and another containing heroin. At one time Darby had been sleeping in his own car and told police he broke into one vehicle for a place to sleep.

Darby spent two days in Addenbrooke's Hospital recovering and was then remanded in custody for possessing the class A drug.

He admitted being in possession of heroin on January 25, as well as six charges of theft in December last year and asked for a further four theft offences to be taken into consideration.

David Stewart, for Darby, said his client had attended two appointments before his relapse and wanted to get help for his addiction.

Sarah Smeeth, of social services, said there were concerns about whether Darby had sufficient motivation to tackle his drug problem. His partner was also a drug user on a rehabilitation order.

Magistrates' chairman Brian Harvey said: "We are suspending the custodial sentence to give him the opportunity to take the help available from the probation service."

Darby was due to appear before the same court yesterday

Residents say no to eco-town plan

COUNCILS and residents are being urged to send a "robust message" against plans to build an eco-town near Hinxton.

More than 60 people attended a public meeting organised by Hinxton Parish Council on Monday night to discuss how residents can help to fight the Hanley Grange scheme, which could see 8,000 homes built next to the village.

On Tuesday, Andrew Lansley, MP for Cambridgeshire South, held more talks on the proposals.

The Government is currently consulting on 15 proposed eco-town sites across the country.

They say the new towns, which should not be commuter towns, will be designed to tackle three major issues including climate change, the need for sustainable housing and the need to increase housing supply.

The proposal for the Hanley Grange development was brought forward by developers Jarrow Investments, which owns much of the land on behalf of Tesco.

But residents at the public meeting said they did not feel Hanley Grange was the right place for an eco-town.

Viv Ellis, of High Street, Hinxton, said: "We feel under siege really.

"We have only been living here a few months and already we have been inundated with issues from the Stansted expansion, widening the M11 to three lanes and now this.

"It will undoubtedly become a commuter town being so close to London. I know myself as a teacher in London how convenient Hinxton is.

Free drinks as toast of thanks

A WOMAN is giving away free drinks to Portuguese people as a thank you for the time she spent in their country.

The beverages are to celebrate a national holiday in Portugal. Diane Taylor will foot the bill at the Déjà Vu café in Queen Street on Friday, April 25, by way of thanks to the Portuguese nation, which played host to her during the 20 years she lived in the country.

Mrs Taylor, 74, knows from her time living in Portugal that it is a very special day for the country's citizens, as it commemorates the Bloodless Revolution when red carnations were put into tank guns and handed out to soldiers.

Red carnations are normally worn on this day and Mrs Taylor hopes to present them to the ladies. She hopes to put up some photographs of happy times she had in Lisbon and Porto.

Mrs Taylor said: "I was accepted by the friendliest people I've ever known."

Her invitation says: "The day of April 25, day of the Red Carnation Celebration.

"All Portuguese are invited to coffee shop Déjà Vu for coffee or soft drinks, free of charge from 3 to 5pm, more or less. "Welcome."

Stick to dog lead

POLICE are reminding Haverhill dog owners to stick to restrictions about when their dogs must be kept on leads on the town's recreation ground.

Pc Sonia Plume said a number of complaints had been received about people allowing their dogs off the lead during restricted times.
Under the Cleaner
Neighbourhoods Act of 2005, the area has a dog control order in place from 9am until 5pm. Dogs must be kept on a lead during that time and failure to do so could result in a fine of up to £1,000.
Pc Plume said: "I know it's no big deal to some but the people we speak to are elderly and find it quite intimidating.'

Wanted: groups in need of cash!

■ DRINK ON ME . . . Diane Taylor, offering free drinks to Portuguese people.

LOCAL groups and individuals in need of some extra cash for a good cause are invited to apply for Haverhill Rotary Club grants.

The money will come from cash raised by the club's annual Charity Golf Classic event.

Last year's event, organised in association with the Weekly News, raised an amazing £15,000, with the bulk of this donated to the East Anglian Children's Hospices, and the remainder kept for the Rotary Charity Fund.

Before this year's event takes place at Haverhill Golf Club in June, with a share of the proceeds set to go to the Weekly News' St Nicholas Hospice at Home Appeal, organisers would like to hand out grants of either £1,000 or £500 from last year's proceeds to local good causes.

Chris Briggs, chairman of the organising committee and president of Haverhill Golf Club, said there was between £5,000 and £6,000 to distribute.

He said: "We would like to make quite a few smaller grants to local organisations and worthwhile causes.

"If there is a club or an individual who needs a bit of help, let us know. We will ask people to fill in a simple application form and then the committee will decide."

Anyone interested in applying for a grant should write to Chris Briggs at Haverhill Golf Club, Coupals Road, Haverhill, CB9 7UD.

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- Send off change of address cards.
- Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- ☐ Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

ON MOVING DAY:

- Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- Pack items for washing/toiletries.
- Take down curtains.
- Take up rugs, carpets, floor coverings, as required.
- Dismantle any light fittings etc., not included in the sale.
- Turn off electric appliances.
- Disconnect cooker.
- Turn off boiler/central heating.
- Turn off water.
- Read gas meter.
- Read electricity meter.
- Secure all windows.
- Lock all doors.
- Leave key as arranged with new owners.
- On arrival at your new home, unpack slowly and methodically so that you can check for loss or damage.

Bright lights and big adventures ...

EXCITED students saw the bright lights of Hollywood and the natural splendour of the Grand Canyon on the trip of a lifetime to America.

The pupils from Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College in Haverhill spent two weeks in California, arriving in Los Angeles after a long flight to find long queues at the airport.

The following morning the students were taken to many famous film locations, including the Hollywood Bowl, where views of the Hollywood sign could be seen.

Next stop was Hollywood Boulevard where students discovered the hand prints of famous film stars past and present. They were also taken through Beverly Hills and driven down Sunset Strip.

The afternoon was spent exploring Santa Monica beach with an evening meal at the famous Bubba Gump Shrimp restaurant. The next day was spent at Universal Studios, then the group travelled through the Nevada desert to Las Vegas, driving down the world famous "strip" and at New York New York some students experienced the thrills of a roof-top rollercoaster.

For many students the highlight of the whole tour was a river trip along the Colorado River, starting at the impressive Glen Canyon Dam.

The students then visited the Grand Canyon National Park, walking up to one of the many Grand Canyon viewing platforms. They then travelled to Phoenix and en route stopped off at Montezuma's Castle, an ancient American dwelling built into the side of a cliff. Caroline Taylor, organiser of the trip, said: "This tour has been the trip of a lifetime for all of the students.

"They have experienced places, landscapes and activities that they would probably never normally get the chance to do.

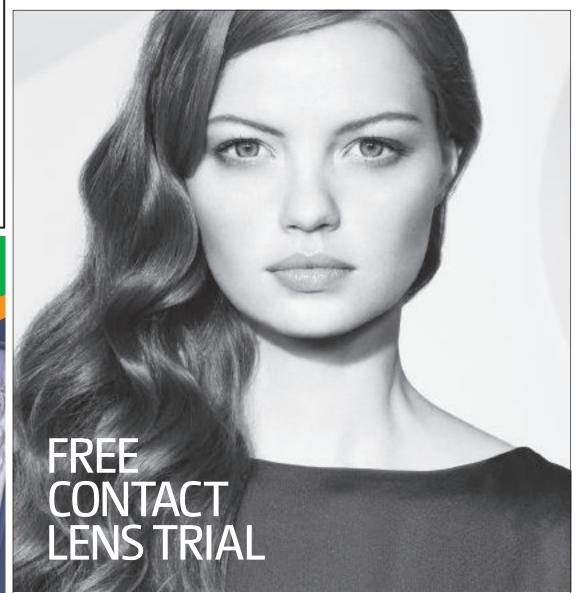

"All the students on this trip were a pleasure to take away. In every hotel we stayed in, every restaurant we ate in, every restaurant we are in, every place we visited, the students' behaviour, attitude and enthusiasm was complimented and praised with the highest regard.

"The trip has been such a success staff at the school are already discussing and putting forward proposals to run this trip or something similar in the near future."

The mayor will present the women, the oldest of whom is 103, with certificates recognising their wartime efforts, before accompanying them on a tour around the town in the vehicles and on to the Great Whelnetham

The idea for the event arose from an invitation by organisers of the Great Whelnetham fete for Land Army members to attend their military-themed exhibition of vehicles.

Word of mouth generated interest in the opportunity for a reunion and the Mayor of St Edmundsbury suggested a civic reception in their honour.

Cllr Charlesworth said: "I am extremely pleased to have this opportunity to pay tribute on behalf of St Edmundsbury to the many women who contributed so selflessly to the war effort.

"It is wonderful that so many Land Army members are able to attend and receive in person our thanks and recognition.

'I also have some photographs of Land Army girls taken by my father and I am hoping one or two of those who come might recognise themselves.

At The Causeway, on Wednesday, April 9, offenders broke into a purple Ford Fiesta by smashing a window but nothing was stolen.

Extra shops challenge for town's new manager

An "EXCEPTIONAL" new town centre manager has been appointed for Haverhill and will aim to help boost the range of shops on offer.

Tina Hanks is currently town centre manager for Tottenham, in London, and will take up her post on June 3.

The job is funded by St Edmundsbury Borough Council with local business and Haverhill Town Council representatives involved in the recruitment process.

Ms Hanks will work closely with businesses, councillors and the Haverhill Partnership to help improve the town centre's shopping experience.

She said: "I'm delighted to be joining the businesses, residents and colleagues in Haverhill at this exciting time.

"My challenge will be to ensure we have a town centre which is economically vibrant, is a really pleasant place to be and which, in all respects, is of a standard expected of a growing successful town like Haverhill.

"I look forward to making my contribution to help make Haverhill a preferred shopping destination for residents and visitors alike."

Cllr Nigel Aitkens, borough council cabinet member with responsibility for Haverhill said: "We are very pleased that Ms Hanks has accepted this key post.

"We believe we have found an exceptional person to help realise Haverhill's potential and aspirations. Tina will bring experience, energy and great enthusiasm to the position."

Community projects take off with $444,000

MORE than £440,000 has been spent on community projects by the West Suffolk Local Strategic Partnership (LSP) during the last year.

Local projects will also benefit from a further £79,000 granted to the partnership for the coming year as the organisation celebrates its first anniversary.

Schemes set up with money from the LSP include a new alcohol awareness course. Think Smart. Drink Smart, run by Suffolk MIND to help people overcome their addiction to alcohol, and several turn-up-and-play events for children during school holidays to get young people active and discourage anti-social behaviour.

John Griffiths, chairman, said: "By working together we are able to achieve so much more than if we worked in isolation. These projects would not have got off the ground without the West Suffolk LSP and we have been heartened to see such positive results in just the first 12 months."

Big grant to boost playtime

FUN play areas are coming to Cambridgeshire after the county won a massive funding boost.

The county council is to receive £2.5 million for new playgrounds as part of a national £235 million project to promote outdoor activities.

Cambridgeshire has been chosen as one of 20 "play pathfinders" to receive the extra funding for new facilities.

The cash will go towards a flagship supervised adventure playground, with around 30 smaller play facilities to be built around the county.

In an exclusive interview with our sister paper, the News, Andy Burnham, Culture, Media and Sport Secretary, said: "It will bring a lot of benefits and significant funding to Cambridgeshire. The decision on which areas would be chosen as pathfinders was based on which councils were ready to deliver, and deliver quickly.

He promised to investigate whether local authorities were being overcautious with play equipment, and to support parents in "balancing risk against opportunity".

Hospital boss hits out at 'unjust' congestion charge

BY John Morgan

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

CANCER patients needing chemotherapy could be among those hardest hit by the Cambridge congestion charge, Addenbrooke's Hospital's boss has warned.

Gareth Goodier, chief executive of Cambridge University Hospitals NHS Trust, has written a 'strongly-worded" letter to Cambridgeshire County Council opposing initial plans which include hospital in the charging zone.

That could mean patients, visitors and staff arriving between 7.30am and 9.30am being hit by a daily charge of between £3 and £5 - on top of parking fees at the hospital which can cost visitors up to £15.

Mr Goodier has warned Brian Smith, the council's deputy chief executive of environment and community services, that the charge would be "prohibitively expensive" for patients undergoing chemotherapy and dialysis - treatments which require regular visits to hospital.

Mr Goodier told our sister paper, the News, that his letter expressed the worries of staff, patients and visitors. He said: "The overwhelming feedback we've received opposes the proposal and calls for the hospital to be outside the congestion charging zone."

Mary Archer, chairman of the trust, told a recent governors' meeting that the letter to Mr Smith been "strongly-

She said: "It makes no sense for patients, at the very least, to fall within the congestion charge zone."

The council recently completed a public consultation on the proposals, aimed at reducing congestion in conjunction with improvements in public transport. It says no final decisions have been made.

Mr Goodier said he recognises the need to Cambridge, but added: "Patients and staff often cannot choose when to travel to hospital and it would be unrealistic, and clinically impossible, to adjust our operating hours to accommodate a congestion charge.

"Many patients undergo a series of treatments, like chemotherapy and dialysis, and have to make frequent, unavoidable trips to hospital. The charge would be prohibitively expensive for this group of patients."

Councillor Geoff Heathcock, who represents Queen Edith's and is Liberal Democrat spokesman for health on Cambridgeshire County Council, believes the hospital should not be in the

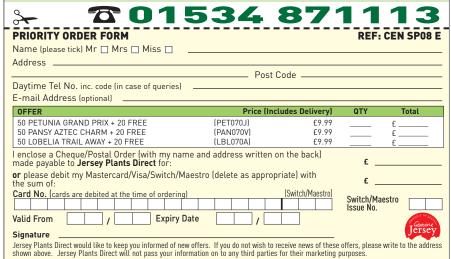

He said: "There is no justice in a situation where people having a rough time are given more things to worry about.

A county council spokesman said: "The views of Addenbrooke's, together with all the results from this consultation, will be taken into consideration."

Anna leaps in son's memory

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A MOTHER who should have been celebrating her son's 25th birthday this week is planning to leap from a plane in a daring tandem skydive in his memory.

Christopher Skinner collapsed on Parker's Piece, Cambridge, in June last year and was taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital, where a CT scan showed he had suffered a massive brain haemorrhage. Despite the best efforts of staff in the neurological care unit, he died the next day.

His devastated parents, Anna and Nigel, who flew home from Canada and reached their son just before he died, decided to abide with their son's wishes and donate his organs, which saved two other lives.

Now Anna, 51, who works as a staff nurse in the eye theatre unit at Addenbrooke's, has decided to overcome her fear of heights to make a giant leap with a 10,000 ft tandem skydive at Chatteris in June.

She hopes to raise as much as she can through sponsorship for the appeal to buy a portable CT scanner for the neurological critical care unit where Christopher was treated.

Anna, of Chapple Drive, Haverhill, said: "The only good thing to come from his death was that by donating his kidneys he was able to give two people the gift of life.

"I wanted to do something amazing in his memory, something he would never believe I would do, yet he would be so proud when I did it.

"When I saw the parachute jump

■ TAKING THE PLUNGE . . . Anna Skinner will take on the skydive challenge in June.

advertised I thought 'I could do that'. I don't like heights and I don't like planes and Christopher would never have believed I would do it. He would have laughed his socks off at the thought of it, but he would also have been proud of me.'

She added: "When I read about the fundraising for the portable CT scanner I knew this was the way for me to say thank you to all the staff who tried to save Christopher.

With this state-of-the-art equipment, when time is of the essence, more lives can be saved by this dedicated team.

The staff in the unit tried so hard to save him and they need to raise £254,000 for the scanner, so anything I can get will be a bonus towards that.

Musical veterans look back

TWO of the most influential musicians in the history of UK folk and jazz come to Cambridge's Junction Shed on Saturday, April 19. Guitarist John Renbourn and multi-instrumentalist Robin Williamson will be performing songs old and new as well as telling stories from their time on the music scene.

John Renbourn was a respected folk guitarist in his own right before he joined Pentangle but it was the band's experimental exploration of folk, jazz and blues music which made his name as one of the country's finest guitarists.
Robin Williamson played on the same circuit but he found fame with The Incredible String Band, which took traditional and world music and fused it with psychedelia and the avant-garde.

Tickets are £17.50 and the music will begin at 8pm. To book, call (01223) 511511.

Trio's year to remember

By Nik Shelton

TO SAY Scouting for Girls have had an eventful year would be a spectacular understatement.

The Surrey-based, piano-thumping good-time tunesmiths are still wandering around in a daze after their self-titled debut album went to number one and their first major UK tour sold out across the country.

Just over a year ago, the three friends – singer and keyboard player Roy Stride, bassist Greg Churchhouse and drummer Peter Ellard – were putting on their own gigs at a pub in Harrow near where they live. The band, who aren't ashamed to describe their music as "big, happy pop tunes that put a smile on your face", realised people were travelling from across the country to see them play at the tiny venue.

"It's quite mind-boggling," says

QUALIFIED TECHNICIANS USING

■ SUDDEN SUCCESS . . . Scouting For Girls.

Greg. "We still can't really get our heads round how everything is going, it's just been the most amazing year and a bit.

"I think when we first realised where it was going was the festival season last year. We started off playing Glastonbury to about 100 people and then by the end of the summer at V Festival we were playing to 3,000 people in a tent and they had to close it off.

"It was amazing to hear the audience singing back to us and there was a dawning realisation that we might just have a chance at this malarkey.

"It's literally every week now that something happens which blows our minds."

The success of the album was in large part due to the enormous amount of play the uber-catchy single She's So Lovely has been getting on TV and radio. As Jonathan Ross noted when the band played on his Radio 2 show recently, the song is currently the default background music to any kind of TV slot involving even the most marginally attractive women.

"The strangest place I've heard it was walking round lkea, I think," says Greg. "It was quite bizarre trying to find some cutlery and plates and then going, 'Hold on, what's that playing in the background?'."

Scouting for Girls are at Cambridge Corn Exchange on Tuesday, April 22.

HAVERHILL WEEKLY NEWS

Vantage ideal for drop-top fun

THE current range of Aston Martins share an analogous design language and that's a very good thing – because as a result any one of them could claim to be the world's most beautiful car.

Whether it's a V8 Vantage Coupe, DB9 or DBS, there is little to be found on the road that comes close to matching their understated yet intense visual impact.

Topless cars invariably weigh more than their coupe siblings, and the Vantage Roadster is no exception, although a gain of 80kg is relatively minimal. At 1,710kg (amazingly a Jaguar XKR Convertible is almost exactly the same at 1,715kg) the Roadster is not exactly anorexic, but then the V8 engine sitting well behind the front axle does its best to compensate. And what an engine. You know you're in for a treat when you push the trademark glass starter button and eight cylinders answer with a rush of revs and a gorgeous bark from the exhaust system. But find the space to accelerate and at just over 4,000rpm the engine's rather refined character transforms, as if by magic (but actually thanks to a bypass valve), into something you would expect straight out of a NASCAR racer. It is utterly addictive and encourages you to keep the engine spinning faster than is absolutely necessary, just for another aural treat.

It is fitting that you also have to work the engine to get the best out of it, as both power and torque levels peak in the sky – maximum torque arrives at an unusually high 5,000rpm, while maximum power finally gatecrashes proceedings at a stratospheric 7,000rpm. In a world where most self-respecting V8s have at least 400bhp – Jag's XKR gets 420bhp – the Aston is perhaps a teensy bit wanting, but winning Top Trumps is not what it's all about. For a British sports car to gain proper recognition it needs to handle, and that's where Aston's

For a soft top the body is exceptionally rigid with no judder or shake to speak of, and this, combined with fully independent double wishbone suspension, translates into excellent handling. The chassis provides massive traction, no doubt helped by rear wheels that are 27.5cm wide, and despite absorbing bumps well, the Roadster is remarkably roll-free under hard cornering. There are no nasty rear-wheel-drive surprises either. This car has been set up to take care of those who prefer posing hard to driving hard, and will safely understeer if your nerve manages to overcome the Roadster's substantial reserves of

BASICALLY...

The Vantage Roadster is a car that goes as well as it looks. And in this case that really is saying something.

■ ROVER 25 . . . well-built family wheels.

BUYER advice website UsedCarExpert.com has been looking at cars for around £1,000.

"Every time you open the paper at the moment, there is yet more analysis of troubles in the financial markets," says spokesman Matt Tumbridge.

"Property prices look shaky, too, and there is some talk of a recession. So it is comforting to know that if you find yourself needing to make cutbacks, you can find reliable wheels for hardly any money," he adds

"I did a search through AutoTrader magazine, and found three cars – an executive motor, a family vehicle, and city wheels – that are all just Motoring doesn't get cheaper than this," Tumbridge says. Here's the selection: ■ Mazda 626 (1997-2002) - "The 626 represents a dependable range of cars for less," says

£1,000, but were being sold with

MoT and road tax on them.

Tumbridge. "Saloons, estates, and hatchbacks all depreciate fast, and offer great value for those who want practicality, not overall, and best used buy is the 2.0 GXi.

UsedCarExpert.com lists 13 fault checks, and the real example spotted was a 1996 P Reg Mazda 626 1.8i Gxi, with 42,000 miles, for £1,000.

■ Rover 25 (1999-2005) -"These are well-built, and a sensational value family hatch," reckons Tumbridge. "Cramped in the back, rivals are better, but they're good to drive with some great engine options."

Most economical version is the 2.0D, with a 55.4mpg combined fuel average, and best used buy, is the 1.6i L.

UsedCarExpert.com buyers lists 16 pre-buy checks, and the actual example Tumbridge homed in on was a Rover 216Ši, R reg, with 54,000 miles, which was priced at £1,000.

■ Vauxhall Corsa (1993-2003) -"Cheap to buy and run, and easy to own, it was much improved from 2000," asserts Tumbridge. "Because there are huge numbers around, prices can be temptingly low.'

Most economical model is the 1.7Dti, with a 60.1mpg average, and best used buy is cited as the 1.2 16-valve 5-door Elegance.

UsedCar Expert.com buyers has 25 fault checks listed online, and the real example highlighted was a 1999 Vauxhall Corsa 1.2 Breeze, with 39,000 miles, also at £1,000.

its carbon footprint must range. Materials from be applauded as the "Clean Inside and Out' programme takes in all aspects of the manufacturers environmental impact.

Volvo is well ahead of schedule in terms of a recent European Commission study, stating that all new vehicles should be 85 per cent recyclable or reusable by 2015. Volvo reached this figure six years ago, back in 2002.

The reuse and recycling of materials has been extensively thought about and Volvo uses recycled steel, iron, aluminium and other metals throughout its catalytic converters are reused in new catalysts and even details as small as plastic battery covers have been considered with this example being recycled for use in the lining of wheel arches.

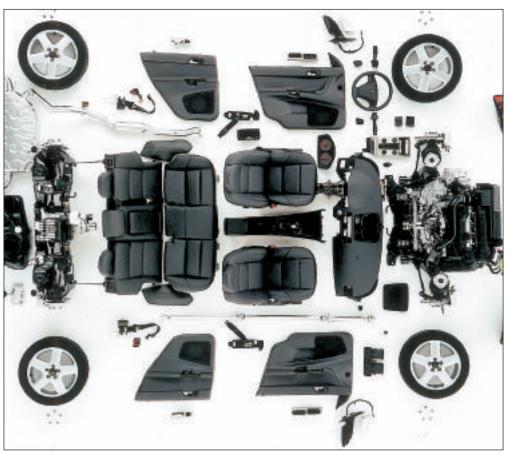

Volvo has looked further than just the cars too. The manufacturer of Volvo vehicles is climate-neutral and it's the result of years of alternative energy use. In the early 1980s, Volvo started using residual heat from nearby refineries to heat its Torslanda factory in Sweden. Later that decade, natural gas was used to heat factories in Sweden and Belgium. Most importantly, as of 2008, Volvo's European manufacturing plants only use green electricity, supplied by hydro-electric stations. This green energy use is set to be expanded as Volvo is analysing the use of other energy sources such as biogas and wind power in production. vehicle

Vehicles and factories can hold all sorts of harmful materials and Volvo has gone about cutting these out as much as possible. Lead, mercury, cadmium and chromium have all been banished from Volvo models and changes to processes such as the tanning procedure for leather have been undertaken to remove harmful substances. All materials used in the interior meet the strict Oeko-Tex international standard to make sure they are free from hazardous substances and are hypoallergenic.

Finally, Volvo's green commitment continues to its aftercare packages. Environmental information is available to customers for all its model variants. This provides data on the car's environmental impact for its whole life – including production, use and disposal. When it comes to servicing or repairing vehicles, Volvo has an exchange programme set up with its dealers. The system collects used parts from dealerships remanufactures them to the same quality as new parts. These, along with reconditioned parts, are made available to buy and come with a Volvo-approved parts guarantee.

More information on Volvo's commitment to the environment can be found at www.volvocars.com ■ CLEAN MACHINE . . . Volvo's factory methods mean all these parts of one of its cars are recyclable.

YOUTH FOOTBALL ROUND-UP

Smart Alex nabs a four-goal haul

WRATTING made their first trip to the home of Thurlow and, from the first whistle, they found their passing game. The home side adopted a defensive formation to try to keep the visitors at bay, but a first-half hat trick from Alex Carter and a goal from close range for Cameron Kidd were enough to secure a four-goal advantage for Wratting at half-time. The second half followed the same pattern as the first, the home team's defence was eventually broken down after 15 minutes with Carter grabbing his fourth. William Bailey then scored a great individual goal and captain Paul Jenkinson reacted quickest in the box to complete the scoring. An excellent defensive performance by the home team, and a man of the match display by the home goalkeeper, kept the scoreline down to reasonable levels, but Wratting ran out deserved winners. West Wratting squad: Ben Eames, Rhys Shulver, Sam Street, Sean Elsom, Paul Jenkinson, Stephen Boyles, Cameron Kidd, Joshua Ruthven, Alex Carter, Joshua Osuchukwu, William Bailey.

Thurlow Youth U10 0 West Wratting U10 Reds 7

CAMBS MINI LEAGUE, DIVISION 10D

■ ON THE ATTACK . . . Goalmouth action featuring West Wratting U10s

Rovers' defence soon un-Locked

Haverhill Rovers U15 1 Hundon Hawks U15 3

CAMBS COLTS LEAGUE, DIVISION 15C

HAWKS hit their local rivals with a goal inside two minutes as Tom Lock hassled the home defence into an error before netting with a cool finish.

Not long afterwards it was 2-0 when Harry Middleditch poked home from close range after a series of efforts had been blocked.

forward Driven Middleditch and Lewis Brown, Hawks could have scored several more and hit the post from a long range Ben Robinson effort.

However, they were pegged back by a goal from a corner from Rovers' Harvey Bavester's header, which Hawks thought they had cleared off the line.

It was 2-1 at half-time and Rovers tore into Hawks after the break, but the away defence held firm.

Hawks first real attack of the second half produced the key moment. Nathan Poole's huge long throw was met squarely by Lewis Brown to restore Hawks two-goal advantage

Despite chances at either end, Hawks hung on well to their promotion challenge on track.

Grampian Gunners U14 0 Ely Crusaders U14 2

CAMBS COLTS LEAGUE, DIVISION 14A GRAMPIAN went down to two second-half goals as their miserable run of results continued, despite the first half being as good as they have played for some time with good movement and fine passing opening up the visitors' defence.

Bailey should have done better when set up by Palazon and Jackson could have scored.

A great move involving Brown and Palazon put Bailey through and when his shot was parried by the keeper Pryke, with the goal at his mercy, chose to pass instead of shooting into the empty net.

Although the second half wasn't as good, the home side still had chances, Halls lobbed wide when well positioned and a Jackson header from a corner grazed Youngs' the post.

Ely opened the scoring 18 minutes from time and sealed victory near the end.

NST Strikers U9 3 Grampian Gunners U9 0

CAMBS MINI LEAGUE, DIVISION 9D GUNNERS started their first match for four weeks very slowly and without much conviction as Strikers dictated the play and went Going a goal down seemed to put some life into the Gunners and they missed half chances by Robson and Gage before the break.

The next period saw Gunners start much better with good battling from Ager and Farrow at the back, while chances for Woodley and Henderson were not converted.

Gunners then brought on Law and Austin in a bid to break their duck, but Strikers nicked a second from a corner to increase their advantage at the break.

At the start of the final period, Gunners pushed up again and Fletcher hit the bar before Strikers got their final goal past goalkeeper Jones.

The final whistle brought a conclusion to a good effort from Strikers and a bad performance by the Gunners.

WRATTING tasted defeat at the hands of a well organised Hardwick side.

The visitors conceded the first goal early after an error between defence and keeper saw a shot from distance find the back of the net.

After the break, Wratting equalised from a good corner, which was headed goalward by Grocott for Mutswanguma to smash home from close Still Wratting did not look comfortable at the back, but managed to go in front after Eldred drove in a fierce shot from outside the box.

Hardwick continued to create chances, hitting the woodwork twice and being denied time and time again by goalkeeper Finley Iron, who was in brilliant form.

Hardwick eventually got an equaliser and it was 2-2 going into the final period

Wratting then played some of their best football of the match, creating a number of chances, but were denied by some poor finishing and the woodwork.

Wratting self-destructed in the final two minutes when two terrible errors at the back gifted Hardwick a 4-2 victory they thoroughly deserved.

Wratting's man of the match was their outstanding goalkeeper Iron.

revitalised team emerged after the break to take the lead. Great runs from Ryan Wiseman and Miles Wiffen resulted in two tries apiece.

However, in the last minute Haverhill were denied as Walden scored the final try to draw 4-4.

In the second game, Walden put out a strong side to press for the win.

Despite some great defence, Haverhill went three scores down with only Billy Notley scoring in reply.

Haverhill came out for the second half and, following a great run through the Walden defence, Miles Wiffen scored to set up a great comeback.

Oliver Jury, not to be outdone, also went on a jinking run to score, but, despite some good defence from Halle Dial and Reiss Mason. Walden managed to outpace Haverhill to win 4-3. Haverhill's captain for the

Despite the 5-0 losing Haverhill's scoreline. performance in the first match was by far the best team display this season.

Their teamwork was never compromised and, on three occasions, they came close to a levelling try, only to be held up by some desperate rearguard action from Walden.

Wilting bodies and legs were Haverhill's downfall in the final half of the second contest, but credit went to all the players in producing a thoroughly good rugby match, which was lost 15-0.

Westley in the action at Fenner's

WESTON Colville-based Tom Westley was at the crease for Essex with eight runs to his name as their three-day match with Cambridge UCCE's at Fenner's ended in a draw on Monday. The teenage Saffron Walden batsman shared a 35-run partnership with the experienced Jason Gallian, who hit 79, to guide the visitors to 152 for 2 when stumps were drawn. Spinner Tom Hemingway took both wickets in Essex's second innings and finished with 2 for 32 from seven overs. Seamers Mohammad Amin and Liam O'Driscoll were shown no mercy by Gallian and Varun Chopra (52) as the county outfit scored at more than five runs per over. Earlier in the day, Nick Lee's men had declared their first innings on 190 for 4, with the skipper making an undefeated 48 and Kunal Jogia hitting 58 from 91 balls.

Essex, who handed Saffron Walden wicketkeeper Adam Wheater his first-class debut, had compiled 406 for 4 on the opening day.

England under-19 star Westley missed out with the bat, making only a single in a total, which dominated by knocks of 153 by skipper Mark Pettini, a former Saffron Walden a former Saffron Walden player, and 146 from Dutch World Cup player Ryan ten Doeschate.

Although he was not called into the Essex attack when the students batted, Westley did catch the university's Mark Bott off the bowling of David Masters.

FOOTBALL REVIEW

Rovers enjoy home comfort

MARCUS Hunt's Haverhill side picked up four useful Ridgeons League, Premier Division, points in a busy week at Hamlet Croft.

Rovers notched up convincing 3-0 win over Swaffham on Saturday and followed it up with a goalless draw when Ipswich Wanderers visited on Tuesday evening.

Hunt was pleased to put on a show for Haverhill's supporters in the victory over Swaffham.

The caretaker player-manager saw his team go ahead after 19 minutes when Paul Shaw found the net after good work from Ryan Kent on the right flank.

Just before the hour mark. Rovers doubled their lead thanks to a cool finish from Sam Green following Shaw's perceptive

And the victory was wrapped up by Paul Stokes a minute from time as he won a 50-50 challenge with the visiting goalkeeper and rolled the ball over the line.

Hunt said: "The crowd want to see attacking play and we took the game to Swaffham early on and got some momentum.

"Swaffham are always a tricky side, but we created a lot of chances, got in behind them and we could have scored a few more.

"There's no point sitting back and keeping it tight against the teams near the bottom and you've got to take the game to them."

And the boss has been pleased with his team's reaction following the departure of ing manager Steve Taylor and several key players last month. Hunt said: "We had a tricky couple of weeks where it was all up and down and we didn't know who was staying and leaving.

"But we've got a settled squad now and we're looking to go on a good run and get a top 10 finish which would be great in our first season back in the Premier."

Goalkeeper Jamie Smith pulled off a string of decent saves to make sure Haverhill took a point as they and Ipswich ended up cancelling each other out on Tuesday.

Rovers had the bulk of the chances with Jamie Thurlbourne forcing a good save visiting keeper in the first half, while Paul Shaw and the returning Paul Jenkin had good efforts in the second period.

Rovers, who are in the middle of a run of six consecutive home games, host Stanway Rovers on Saturday and King's Lynn reserves on Tuesday evening.

■ Haverhill reserves beat Witham seconds 2-0 to win the Reserve Teams South Division title. They will take on the North Division champions on April 29 to determine the overall winners.
